Students Play Dr. Jekyll and Hyde Having Pictures Taken

Reporter Decides Mirror Must Have Seen Many Amusing Faces

By Hope Wray

I had my mouth wide open and I know my hair was standing on end as I stepped quietly into Recreation Hall where pictures were being taken for the 1939 Tower.

I watched several nervous students prepare for the great event of their picture taken. The large mirror available for primping must have seen many faces and amusing incidents during these two weeks.

A red-headed college man peered in the door with his confidential air but soon he got a little nervous as his picture was taken.

He combed his hair and over again although it seemed it was the first time. He looked in the mirror and tied it again in an attempt to regain his former composure. Soon the big event came for him and he looked as if he had been working hard for an hour instead of sitting for a few minutes to have his picture taken.

When time for the next class arrived I had to leave the improvised studio in Recreation Hall as I was beginning to get some new ideas on the newest of fashions. I am inclined to believe that if everyone in school dressed everyday like he did on the day he had his picture taken we would certainly have a very fashionable school.

STC President Welcomes Dads Last Friday

71 Fathers Here; Two Come 350 Miles to Campus

In welcoming the Dads of students to the College campus last Friday morning, President Uel W. Lamkin compared opportunities of the sons and daughters with those of their fathers, pointing out how much better prepared is the College of today to teach students the things they need to know in order to live.

The College president told the fathers that in spite of the outside activities in which students of today indulge, nothing can take the place of attention to class work and of high standards of scholarship.

Mr. Lamkin referred to the new laboratory school, the library, and dormitories under construction in illustrating the fact that teaching needs to be supplemented with modern equipment each year in order to meet changes constantly taking place in modes of living.

Because boys and girls of today should not have to begin where their parents began, Mr. Lamkin urged the students to take advantage of the progress which has been made and be worthy of their parents' sacrifices to send them to school.

Assembly

Richard Shroust, student president, extended a greeting to Dads in behalf of the students. June Ernst and Kenneth Tchow played a violin duet, Belle Ward sang a vocal solo, and Delbert Foster gave a humorous reading entitled "Pa Shaves Off His Whiskers". The a capella choir, under the direction of Mr. Paschal Monk, head of the music department, sang three selections.

The Dad's luncheon was served at noon at the First Methodist church. Wilma Myers gave an address of welcome to the guests at the luncheon. Rev. W. H. Hackman, pastor of the First Methodist church, responded. Dr. J. W. Jones, dean of the College faculty, made the principal address.

The final event of the Dad's day celebration was the Maryville-Warrensburg football game which Maryville won 13-0.

Cooper Re-Elected Last Tuesday to State Legislature

Mr. A. H. (Bert) Cooper, director of extension at the College, was re-elected for the third time at the election Tuesday, as representative to the state legislature by a fairly large majority.

Mr. Cooper said Wednesday that he deeply appreciated the support of his friends in the election. "It was impossible, due to my work at the College," he explained, "to make an extensive personal campaign. The people in Nodaway county carried on the campaign for me."

Elected to the legislature in 1934, Mr. Cooper has served two full terms in that capacity, and will begin his duties as representative for the third time when legislature convenes the first of January. Mr. Cooper has been director of extension here at the College since 1921.

Speakers

Outstanding speakers for the general session will include: David Cushman Coyle of the natural resources commission in Washington, D. C.; Edward Howard Griggs, New York, author and lecturer; Sidney B. Hall, superintendent of public instruction in Richmond, Va.; Lloyd W. King, state superintendent of schools; William Phelps of New Haven, Conn.; Abba Hillel Silver, DD, Rabbi of the Temple, Cleveland, O.; Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of the Atlanta, Ga., public schools; and Harry F. Ward, professor of Christian Ethics, Union Theological Seminary in New York.

Funds Being Raised For P. A. System

Last Friday, November 4, a dance sponsored by the music department was given for the purpose of raising funds to buy a public address system for the school. About two hundred students attended the dance. Music was furnished by the Ambassadors of Swing. The chapters were Mr. and Mrs. Paschal Monk, Dr. Margaret Ruth Smith, and Mr. J. L. Zwingle.

Arrangements for the dance were made by Mr. John O. Geiger, faculty advisor for the Ambassadors of Swing. Twenty-eight dollars and fifty cents was cleared on this project and other plans are in the offing for raising additional funds.

Students Appeal Against War at Assembly Today

IRC Believes We Must Educate For World Peace

"Educating for Peace," was stressed this morning at the assembly program in the College auditorium, which was presented by the International Relations Club. In a program of varied talks, music, and readings, it was brought out that any appeal against war must be made to the intelligence of younger minds.

"No longer is Armistice day a time for great celebration," Virgil Elliott, president of the club, said in the opening talk. "Today we are interested in seeing that those ideals which were at stake in the World War are realized. We must carry on that fight," he declared.

In his talk, William Dexter Harvey showed how economic conditions of the world are responsible for the trouble between nations. To promote world peace, he advocated "doing away with tariff barriers, reducing capitalist imperialism, and improving economic conditions."

Speaking on the "Costs of the War," Mr. Avon Reeves emphasized that war will only be eradicated "when people realize that the cost in human suffering and progress is far greater than any possible gain."

Rev. Carl Hackman in discussing the Peace movement, both in the past and present, lent a glow of hope on the war situation by saying that the story of the peace movement, through the ages reveals progress, even though we seem to be progressing slowly today. "Permanent peace will not come over night," he added.

Wayne Crawford pointed out that complete isolation is fatal to the growth of commerce and friendship between nations, and that collective security offers one possible solution to the world.

Helen Estep outlined the recent crisis in Europe and gave a background of events leading up to the present situation. She was followed by James Hitchcock, who spoke on "College Students and World Peace."

"The hope today in the attack on the war problem," he pointed out, "lies in the hands of persons of College age. We must study the causes and results of war and take an interest in peace-war legislation," he contended.

An octette composed of College students sang "The Dawn of World Peace," by Stroughton. Lois Langland read the devotions and several extracts from poems concerning war and peace were read by Margaret Kyle.

Members of the octette were Helen Killian, Martha Sue Zimmerman, Merrill Ostrum, Marilyn Johnson, Iola Argo, Irene Swann, Mynatt Breidensthal, and Robert Dunham.

The assembly next Wednesday will be presented by students of the conservatory of music, under the direction of Mr. Paschal Monk, head of the College music department.

President Lamkin Presents Unusual Gift to College

Complete Works Of Shakespeare Now On Display

President Lamkin has presented to the College library an unusual American edition of "The Complete Works" of Shakespeare, which is now on view in the display case on the balcony in the library.

This edition of Shakespeare's plays and poems is unusual because of the manner in which it was issued and because the edition is in the original state. It consists of twenty-eight pamphlets or parts with the original paper wrappers. The parts, which were priced at fifty cents each, are issued semi-monthly, so that at the end of fourteen months the subscribers had the complete edition for the sum of fourteen dollars.

Since the pamphlets consisted of exactly sixty-four pages each, the last line of the last page was sometimes from the middle of a speech in Act IV, Scene I of a play. The subscriber had to wait two weeks for the following issue before he could finish the speech, the scene, and the play.

In Sections The publication of new novels in a succession of parts in paper wrappers was a common practice in the second quarter of last century. Most of the novels of Thackeray and Dickens appeared in this form. It was not usual, however, to put out an edition of an old, established work in parts other than as volumes in a series.

These Shakespeare pamphlets with their continuous pagination were really sections of a series of three volumes. The subscribers were invited to return their numbers when the series was complete in order to have them bound. The twenty-eight issue contained the necessary title pages and tables of contents for each volume, together with instructions to the binder about the placing of the illustrations.

The glory of this particular edition was to be its "Gallery of Shakespearean Scenes and Portraits." The advertisement on the cover of the first number describes the work as "Illustrated with fifty-seven new and finely executed steel engravings, from original drawings, chiefly portraits in character, of the most distinguished American actors of the present time." These pictures (Continued on Page Three)

Climax to Armistice Day Program Will be Cape Girardeau-Maryville Football Game on College Field

Locals Need to Win Final M. I. A. A. Encounter to Cop Crown; Indians Are Determined to Down Milner-men

As a climax to the annual Armistice day program to be held in Maryville today, the Bearcats will meet the determined Cape Girardeau Indians in the championship football game of the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association.

The game will decide whether Coach Ryland Milner's Bearcats will be the undisputed champions in the M. I. A. A., or whether they will tie with the Rolla Miners for first place in the conference. To date, the local eleven has defeated every team in the loop with the exception of the Cape Indians.

Plans Being Made For Winter Social Events at College

The College Social Committee met Wednesday for an important meeting in which the social calendar for the entire school year was discussed.

The Annual Christmas Ball is being planned for the night of December 20 and the plans are already beginning to be developed. A winter sport party to be held at the Country Club sometime after the Christmas holidays was suggested and the committee decided to begin preparations for such a party as soon as the weather and opportunity demanded.

The personnel of the committee is C. Lloyd Oliver, Guilford, chairman, Marie Holding, St. Joseph, Henry Turner, King City, Mary Frances Barbeck, and Edward Bird, Maryville, Paul Tracy, Hubbard, Ohio, Rose Mae Fink, Oregon, and Dr. Margaret Ruth Smith and Mr. Hugh Wales, Directors of Personnel for Women and Men, ex-officio members of the committee.

Mr. Zwingle to Speak At A. A. U. P. Meeting

Mr. J. L. Zwingle, of the College English faculty, will be the principal speaker at the regular monthly meeting of the American Association of the University Professors, to be held at Phares Tea room, Monday evening, November 14, at 6:30 o'clock.

Mr. Zwingle will discuss the personification of wisdom which is a prominent allegorical figure in Continental English Literature from the late middle ages to the middle of the 18th century; and its background in relationship between primitive religion, primitive mythology, medieval theology, and the general literature of the late middle ages.

Mr. Sterling Surrey is general chairman of arrangements for the dinner.

O'Neillians Organize Choral Reading Choir

Definite steps were taken at the regular meeting of the O'Neillian club Tuesday, November 8, to organize a choral reading choir of about twenty-five voices.

Provisions have been made for this group to start regular practice next Tuesday, November 15. They will meet every Tuesday and Thursday evening from 7:00 to 7:45. Their first project will be the selection, "Congo."

Lucy Mae Benson to Teach at Chillicothe

Miss Lucy Mae Benson, a graduate of the College in the class of 1938, has secured a position as teacher of physical education in the high school at Chillicothe, Mo. It was announced this week by Mr. H. T. Phillips, chairman of the College placement bureau. This fall Miss Benson has been instructor of physical education at the Jewish Educational Center in Kansas City.

The Bearcats have rolled up a total of 141 points in the seven games they have played this season, as against twenty-six for their opponents. The Oplake eleven is one of the top-ranking few undefeated football teams in the nation.

The Indians, whom the locals meet this week in their final game of the current conference schedule, have ruled the roost in the M. I. A. A. for the past two years. The least the Bearcats can do is tie for the title with the Rolla Miners. For this to happen, Maryville would have to lose to Cape and Rolla would have to win its two remaining games with Springfield and Warrensburg.

Coach Milner and Coach Wilbur Stalcup have been drilling their proteges this week in an attempt to keep the Bearcats' claws sharpened so that the conference crown may not escape their reach. The locals have not won the conference title since 1931.

Joe Kurtright, blocking halfback from Albany, is suffering a recurrence of a shoulder injury as a result of the Warrensburg game last Friday. His is the only injury of serious consequence on the Maryville squad. He probably will not see service in this game this week.

So far in the year the local eleven has worked as a well-drilled unit with few individual luminaries. With only four touchdowns scored against them all season, the Bearcats have presented a well-balanced team as a result of constant drill on fundamentals.

Bill Bernau, co-captain and quarterback of the club, has been outstanding as a triple threat man in the Bearcat backfield behind excellent work on the part of the line. Stanley Pele, fullback for the locals, has converted twelve placements out of seventeen tries this season.

Seven touchdowns have been scored by Bernau, three of which have been made in conference games. With a total of thirty points to his credit, Pele has scored three touchdowns, two in conference play, and twelve extra points.

Frank Baker of St. Joseph has scored two touchdowns this season, as have Joe Kurtright and Bernard McLaughlin, Virden, Ill. Norman Reppel and Don Paxson, both of St. Joseph, and Ivan Schottel, King City, Harry Darr, Bethany, and Gene Hiett, Moberly, have each scored one touchdown this year. Extra points have also been made by Kurtright, Hiett and Raymond Curtiss, Ridgeway.

A Fighting Team, Loyal Pep Groups and Members of Student Body Elevate STC Athletically

The Bearcats have climbed another rung of the ladder to the Conference Championship. And the game was played under adverse weather conditions, the worst on the schedule to date. We all hope and most of us are quite certain that these fighting Bearcats are fighting today for another victory and the 1938 M. I. A. A. Championship.

Why was the game a victory for Maryville? By analyzing the game we can see several reasons. The first and foremost reason was the battling Bearcats; they outgained the Mules nearly four to one from the scrimmage line. Not only should we give the backfield a good pat on the back but the line as well. The backfield turned in a fine performance and furnished their share of the battle while the line gave the performance which has characterized the Bearcat forward wall as the staunchest in the conference.

But while we sing the praises of the team, we should consider what assistance these victors had. On one side there is the reserve squads who go unsung but who do their great work during that important time between games; on the other side there was a very representative group of dads, both of players and students, who supported their team and helped us win the game.

Then we look to the bleachers where an enthusiastic student body filled the stands to overflowing. And despite the cold, damp wind, the students stuck the game out and kept their pep up throughout.

The cheer leaders worked hard as usual and theirs was a nice, cool job, done in a fine manner. They had arranged a very good series of stunts to be given throughout the game but due to the bad condition of the field and the weather they could do but very few of their tricks. Nevertheless, we give them a hand for their part in the game.

The Marching Band comes in for their share of the glory for they kept up their part of the pep under difficulties but in their usual good fashion. They cooperated with the Barkatze and the Green and White Peppers in an interesting and intricate stunt that kept the crowd watching the maneuvers.

As we look back at the game, it seems that it was one of the best all-around home games and one of the most satisfying that we have had yet this year. May the game this afternoon be as successful and may our team and our College return to this campus the long absent M. I. A. A. champion-ship. p. s.

CONTRIBUTIONS TO THE LIBRARY

Mention is made on the front page of this issue of the college paper of President Lamkin's gift of an unusual book to the college library.

Other friends of the college have from time to time presented books, both old and new, to the library. When the new building is completed, it is earnestly hoped that more gifts of this kind will be forthcoming.

There must be many families in northwest Missouri which have old diaries, letters, or other documents which are valuable and interesting because they record the life, the thoughts, and the feelings, as well as the business transactions, of the pioneers of this section. Although these papers may relate to a period that is not far distant so far as years are concerned, they belong to a way of life that is fast going out of recollection. Such documents are history in the primary sense of the term, and ought to be preserved. The college library ought to be a depository for such material.

Other families have old school books which the library would like to have. A collection of old spellers, arithmetics, pictorial geographies, and readers used in Missouri during the last hundred

From the Dean . . .

A few days ago a prominent citizen of Kansas City died, and on his desk was found the code of a gentleman—a set of eleven precepts by which he lived. I think all of them would be of value to the student body but for the present I want to use only the first:

"I will do my best in all matters and not worry." Down deep in the heart of each student in school is a desire to be the kind of man or woman that his or her parents really want him to be. Each student wants to be a lady or a gentleman in the true sense of the word in the eyes of someone. I believe that such a goal is possible if one will but try. While it is difficult for us to see our own faults and sometimes equally difficult for those who care deeply for us to see these faults, still they are apparent to others not so close to us. These people are often those who form important opinions about us and who give us our reputation. No college man or woman should neglect the establishment of a good reputation among his friends even those who are not his closest friends.

What has all this to do with the precept of this gentleman I mentioned above and with the young men and young women of the Northwest Missouri State Teachers College? Just this—within the past week the subject of cheating by college students has been called to my attention and an indictment made that reflects upon the character of the school. Should the students in this college tolerate cheating by their fellows? I do not think so. I think that each student in school should undertake to clear the reputation of the school. I promise you that the faculty and the administration will do all in their power to help you build the kind of a reputation you want both for yourselves and for the school, but I want to urge you as students to do something about it yourselves. You can eliminate cheating from this school if you start out to do so. You can insist that the cheater get what he deserves by the power that is in your own hands. Let the reputation of a cheater be known and others will recognize him for what he really is.

I do not want to believe that we have any students in this college who want to be known to their fellows as cheaters. Such a reputation will live with them long after college days are over. I believe that the young men and young women in this college are smart enough to know that they are going to have to live with each other for many years to come and surely their future happiness together is more important than any gain which can be made by cheating.

"I will do my best in all matters and not worry."

—J. W. Jones

years would be in themselves a history of education. Students who are willing to help build such a collection should consult faculty members who know which ones are worth keeping and which ones have no value.

Some households in this part of the state have books belonging to general literature that are valuable because they are first editions, or special editions, or because they are now out of print. Students and alumni of the college should be aware of the value of such books and should secure as many as possible of them for the college. Old newspapers and periodicals are also valuable. Now is the time for students who are interested to learn what will enrich the library and what will be of no use.

Students and alumni who wish to be friends of the library, can present books and manuscript material, or can contribute money for the purchase of rare and beautiful books. All those who value the benefits they have enjoyed at the college, will surely be glad to express in some individual and substantial manner their sense of obligation. They can choose no better way than that of showing a life-long interest in the library.

Around the Campus

After I go all lyrical last week about the autumnal beauty of the campus, it goes and gets cold, and rains on the football game, and then snows. I'm going to quit appreciating Nature.

I couldn't help but notice the terrible amount of gum-chewing at the dance last Friday night. Numbers of our dancing students seem to think that smoothly gliding feet and softly ruminating jaws go together, and that jittering stuff calls for a jaw action similar to that of a run-away food grinder. I wasn't the only one who noticed this at the dance, because I heard two of our faculty members discussing it. These faculty members aren't old fogies either, who think that gum is an instrument of the devil or something like that, but they are well-bred individuals who know that the dance floor is no place to exercise ones jaws in spite of the advertisements that it makes the teeth whiter, makes you look years younger. It wouldn't be a bad idea if a larger receptacle were placed in the hall outside the west library whenever there's a dance going on, and have it marked plainly, "Kindly Park Gum Here". Do you think it would do any good.

Inanities: Only a week and a half left in this quarter. . . Too many of us have put off a whole quarter's work until these last few minutes, too. . . Looks of the library indicate that the students are doing some last minute work to try to catch up on ten weeks loafing. . . After that Warrensburg game last Friday I don't think there will be any trouble about getting a crowd out for the Cape game this afternoon. . . I think every student wants to see an M. S. T. C. team take the conference championship, and we'll really be proud of the team if that's what happens. . . And, if we want it that badly we can surely get out and back the team.

Mr. Strohm, da boss, tells me that I write too much, and that I gotta take up less space on his paper. Of course, that ain't even gratitude for all the things I've done for the editorial page, but I shall swallow my pride, and work for the good of this great moral weekly. And so, I bid you goodbye with brevity, and I shall see you next week. So long.

So Dense, No Sense

By Heen J. Reed
I've got to write an article
I don't know a particle
What'll I do
It makes me so blue.

Last week I wrote about chairs.
This week I still Lost my will—
Power hunting for a chair.
It gave me quite a scare.

Six-man football is some game,
But never will be the same
As a real game
Like Warrensburg, for instance
By the way, How was the dance?

I am not a poet
And I know you know it.
But I'd like to say
If I may.
We do need more pep
Hepl! Hepl! Hepl!
Not at the pep rally,
Joe, Jim, and Sally.
But at the football battle
Let's hear a little rattle!

I'll have to write
This on the present site.
It's in a class
I may not pass.
We were given a test
We didn't do our best.

The class needs a stimulus
At least something to wake us.

Down in the library
It got quite merry.
A fellow named Harry
Met a girl named Mary.

They indulged in conversation
Then took a vacation.
But they couldn't agree
On a thing, you see,
So their conversation, they quit
Since they had no wit.
They were just like me—
No more sense than a flea!

I think I heard a song,
But I might be wrong.
"The Fly Outlaw the Flea."
Where could it had bet

The Stroller . . .

As the Gold Dust Twins said, 'Lux against us
Well, here I am again
Rambling along,
Snooping around
Finding it out,
Writing it down.

School Spirit is all right—in its place. But evidently the library is not the place. Erman Bird is prepared to give quite a lengthy discussion of the subject after his unceremonious dismissal from the lib last week. Mr. Bird was giving his vocal chords exercise by yelling, 'Beef! Warrensburg in a very vociferous voice.

That was some football game Friday. The Stroller was glad to see so many Dads on hand help cheer the team on to victory. And speaking of football, did you know that we have a girl on the team? How about it, Mr. Bernan, you read your press notices?

If a hen laid an orange what would her chickens say? "See the orange marmalade."

A bale of orchids to the dance band for a special dance Friday night. And a very special garden for Dick Moyer for holding one clarinet note eight choruses.

Now back to the dance. Merrill Ostrus tripping the light fantastic with Emma Isa Brown. Something new. The football widow Barrock, Adams, and Miller finally got a break. Their football heroes brought them to the dance to celebrate the victory. Dick Dempsey was the cutting up in his usual "cute" way. Familiar faces seen were Jack Louden and Max Kieffer, ex-abouts the campus.

John Tabor and Cort Feurt, as usual, came stag. Guess they don't know that a bachelor is man who is cheating some nice girl out of a voice.

The Stroller tries to get around, but couldn't keep up with Bill Maloy Friday night. Confidentially, Bill, just how many dates did you have that night?

Here's the latest on Gene Hill. He called the Salvation Army the other night and the following conversation ensued:

"Is this the Salvation Army?"

"Yes"

"Do you save bad women?"

"Yes"

"Well, save me a couple for Saturday night."

The big red apple for apple polishers goes Vance Riffie this week. Imagine going to a dance and reading the dictionary just to impress chaperons.

Nominations for the Stroller's Trance Club: Raymond Smith, Betty Jane Hatfield, Char Curry.

Curtis Chambers will learn to take Easter as a present to a charivari. The recipients turn the joke back on Curtis and he had to take the tor oil. Remember, nutmeg, there's always greater!

If you see some of the dorm girls looking rather hollow-eyed from lack of sleep, it isn't their fault. It's those three season beds—no springs!

There is more than one way of getting a ternity pin. A Frosh gal has the newest approach. She was in the bookstore the other day asking for a pin. No one seemed to have one. She spied Erman Bird's pledge pin and pointed to it said, "You've got a pin." Sorry little gal but the boys aren't allowed to part with the pledge pins. You might try your approach on active.

Verlin Powers and Rosy Mae Fink are coming a habitual couple. They make Abel and Heloise look like the Platonic twins. Chas Corrington and Margaret McLaughlin are pretty much that way, too.

The Missourian has been printing big headlines about the new organizations on the campus but has neglected to mention the Frog Club. What this club has as its purpose is rather hard to determine. Membership may be obtained through Gale Donahue or Paul Fields.

One tide passing another: "Hi, Tide." "Tide."

Sign in the library—Good books for week-end reading. Guess the reason I never see any of books missing is because I'm always there in middle of the week.

If you want to keep your name out of this umm, just stay out of the sight of the Stroller. who is the Stroller? That's your problem.

A newspaper is what people don't like the editorials in sometimes, so why don't they read a ferent one.

A doorknob is a thing a revolving door around without.

A straw is something that you drink water through two of them.

I said I couldn't write
I'll bet you think I might
Do much better work
If we didn't lurk
So much
With the Dutch
In the library
Where life is so merry.

To those of you
Who think you do
Not see the sense
To this nonsense,
This bit of stuff
It is not ruff.
It's like a college student
It may not be prudent
It may be quite dense
And does not have sense.

The American publishers probably borrowed Knight's text without permission, since there was no international copyright, but they were obliged to prepare new illustrations. Their engravings were copyrighted in 1859.

Although the date of publication is not given in any of the pamphlets, the parts probably began to appear that same year or soon afterward, although publication might have been deferred for some time.

President Lamkin's father graduated from Missouri University in 1858. In 1859 he was teaching in Mount Pleasant Seminary. That may have been the year that he subscribed for this expensive illustrated edition of Shakespeare's plays and poems, which remains as a testimony of his taste and interest.

The kitchens were established in the north-east section of the same floor.

The soldiers drilled on the campus. There was no Residence Hall, gymnasium, lake, or tennis court to affect the maneuvers at that time.

No infirmary was established in the College building for when the boys were ill they were taken to the St. Francis hospital.

With the signing of the Armistice further preparations for war were unnecessary, and on December 14 the boys of the SATC unit received their final discharge papers. The final event was a farewell feed for the men and faculty in the mess hall. Most of the boys returned home but a few remained as regular college students.

Bearcats Continue Title March By Defeating Mules

Game Played On Soggy Field; Locals Win, 13-0

The Bearcats proved themselves to be good mudders when they downed the Warrensburg Mules 13 to 0 on a soggy field here last Friday to continue their undefeated drive toward the M. I. A. A. football title. It was the third conference game in which the Bearcats have held their opponent scoreless this season, and the victory brought the Bearcats the honor of being one of the 27 undefeated, untied teams of the nation.

Although the Bearcats outgained the Mules almost four to one from scrimmage they counted both their touchdowns on passes, Hiett and Reital scoring. Practically the entire game was played in Warrensburg territory, and the score would probably have been larger except for the soggy turf.

From the opening kickoff, which Bernau returned to the 30 yard line, the Bearcats were in command. Paxson and Bernau took the ball to the Mules 48 yard line where the Bearcats were set back 15 yards for holding. Bernau tossed a pass in an effort to pick up the extra yardage, but Sibal intercepted for the Mules on the Maryville 48. The first Warrensburg play was a pass which Don Paxson intercepted on the Maryville 36 to start the Bearcats rolling again.

Bernau Gain 29 Yards
Bernau got away for a 29 yard gain to the Warrensburg 35. Paxson was good for 3 yards, and McLaughlin raced to the 20 yard line before being forced out of bounds. Bernau picked up 7 yards in three tries, and then passed to Baker for a first down on the 10 yard line. Paxson drove through for 4 yards. Two line plays failed to gain, then the Bearcats uncovered a new scoring combination with a pass from Bernau to Hiett for the first score of the game. Pelc came in to kick the extra point and the Bearcats led 7 to 0.

Soon after Pelc's kickoff the Mules made one of their only two threats on the Bearcats' goal. After a Warrensburg punt, Pelc fumbled on the Maryville 40 yard line. Linehan recovering for the Mules on the 35. Holland slipped through the surprised Bearcats for 15 yards, but the Mules were not so lucky on succeeding plays, and Maryville took the ball on the 14 yard line.

Reital Punts 62 Yards
The Bearcats quickly counted again in the second quarter. Reital got off a 62 yard punt to the Warrensburg 15 yard line, and the Mules punted back to Reital on their own 45. Pelc plowed through for 7 yards and Kurtright added seven more. Pelc was stopped for no gain, and Kurtright passed to Reital who shook off two tacklers to race 15 yards for the second touchdown. Pelc's kick for point was wide, leaving the count 13-0 as scoring for the day ended.

Pelc kicked off, but the Mules were forced to punt, kicking out at midfield. Pelc picked up 5 yards, and on the next play, Joe Kurtright received a bad shoulder injury when he was tackled and thrown against the rim of the broadjumping pit at the west side of the field. After an exchange of punts the Mules got another break, recovering a fumble by Bernau on the Maryville 35. A line play and short pass gained a first down on the 25 yard marker. Another pass and two line bucks added eleven yards for another first down, and the Mules seemed headed for pay dirt. A line play failed to gain and two passes fell incomplete. The threat ended as Zemles broke through on the fourth down to smear the passer for a 15 yard loss and give the Bearcats the ball on their own 27 yard line.

Play on Mule Ground
Bernau raced to the 40 yard line, but the Mules halted further advance. Reital kicking to the Warrensburg 35. The Mules tried a pair of passes for no gain and then tossed one which Baker intercepted on his own 43 and returned to the Warrensburg 30. Pelc charged through the line for 12 yards as the half ended.

Warrensburg failed to threaten during the last half as most of the play was well in her territory. The third period nevertheless was the most evenly contested of the game, the Bearcats making a net gain of 30 yards from scrimmage to 27 for the Mules. Each team registered two first downs, but Reital's fine kicking kept the Mules on the defensive most of the time.

Hold Punt Duel
Most of the fourth quarter was spent in a punting duel on the Warrensburg half of the field. Near the end of the game, the Bearcats took the ball on their own 27-yard line, and with Reital doing most of the ball toting, launched a drive which netted five consecutive first downs and found them on the Warrensburg 23 as the game ended.

Despite the mud and disagreeable weather there was a large crowd at the Dad's Day game and every dad enjoyed seeing Maryville win their fourth straight conference game. The Warrensburg players and coaches saw their team go down 13-0.

Norman Reital, who took Bernau's place at quarterback, played a great game. When Bernau suffered the recurrence of a back injury and had to be removed from the game some of the fans were rather worried, but Reital took over in good form. Incidentally, Reital made a run for a touchdown when it looked as if he was going to be tackled three or four times, but he managed to elude the tacklers until he finally crossed the goal line.

The Mules were plenty husky and the Bearcat's backfield seemed to be fairly well bruised. No serious injuries were reported besides the shoulder injury received by Joe Kurtright. Joe probably will not be in uniform again this season as his right arm was injured very severely.

As limited as this correspondent's experience with the pigskin may be, may I say that the hardest tackle I hit have ever witnessed in any football game was made by Ed Mollitoris last Friday. Maryville punted and the Mules safety took the ball and started running at an angle across the field. Ed came in at an other angle and honestly the impact with which they hit made my bones ache the rest of the afternoon.

The Bearcats have clinched a tie for first in the MIAA and we only hope that they clinch first place this afternoon. The Bearcats haven't beaten Cape for some years now, but this is the of the Student Government Association, presided at the meeting. Francis Stubbs, Amazonia, Marjorie Powell, Stewartville, and C. Loyd Oliver, Guilford were appointed as a committee to plan for the pep rally for the Cape Girardeau game. The Senate granted permission to the Green and White Peppers to give a stunt at the game.

The placing of large posters and bills on the bulletin board was discussed and the regulation of prohibition of the practice was cited with the recommendation that senators remove all such posters. The type of notices, size and purpose was also a matter of discussion.

COLLEGE HIGH WINS 6-MAN GRID CROWN

Cubs Defeat Strong Westboro Team By Score of 6-0

BULLETIN!

College high school won the championship in the No. 275 six-man football conference by defeating a strong Westboro high six-man team on the College field yesterday afternoon by a score of 6 to 0.

The lone score came in the first quarter of the game when Broderick, College high star, raced some 65 yards for a touch down. Everett Richards is coach of the College high six-man team.

The Cubs went through the entire season undefeated and untied. This is the first season for six-man football in College high as well as in northwest Missouri.

College High remained undefeated and untied in No. 275 six man football by trouncing Craig High here last Friday night to the tune of 50 to 8. The game was played before a small crowd who braved the cold, wet weather to see a game soaked with thrills. The Cubs scored 4 touchdowns in each half while Craig scored their lone tally early in the second half. Craig had advanced the ball to the 5 yard line against the second team which Coach Richards had put in at the half. The attempt placement was not good. Craig's extra two points came when Broderick was tackled.
